You can even record your webcam and use it as a video source. Have a look at it at: 2. BigBlueButton: This is an Open Source project for collaboration over the Internet. You can create a presentation, upload it, share it, download it, or ask other people to view it. It is similar to the Show Me Your Work project. You can go to the site to download the software. Have a look at it at: 3. Audioboo: This is a free site that allows people to record a spoken message, upload it, and share it. It is like the old version of Show Me Your Work. You can go to the site to find other audio recordings. Have a look at it at: 5. Twtrr: This is a good twitter client with a lot of Twitter tools. You can log in with your twitter account. You can also send out tweet, update your status, see tweets from other users, direct message users, follow users, see mentions, and see people following you. Have a look at it at: 6. Qik: This is a good free video chatting program for the iPhone, iPad, iPod, and all other phones. It works over 3G/4G and Wi-Fi. You can make video calls, record your video, and upload your video directly to youtube. You can also send text messages through Qik. The site is great because you can find other users based on their location. There is a good tutorial at: 7. Blogger: This is a free service for people to create blogs and write in them. You can set up a blog and write. If you have a Google account, you can log in to the Blogger site and write. If you don't have a Google account, you can still create a blog, write, and share it with others. If you have a gmail account, you can write with your email address. Have a look at it at: 8.
